ATILA Lectures

TRANSATLANTIC LECTURES ON INSURANCE LAW

The lecture series represents a transatlantic joint venture in which leading experts from Europe, North America, South America and Africa discuss fundamental questions of insurance law online (via Zoom). The lectures are primarily aimed at participants from Europe, North America, South America and Africa. With this in mind, the time of the event has been chosen to enable participation on both sides of the Atlantic. Speakers and participants from other regions are, of course, also very welcome to attend.

We look forward to your participation!
